To the hundreds of students on the campus, she will always be remembered for her wise and willing assistance. In her classroom we know that we have found a real friend, and with our interest we know that we have found a patient and willing concern. So it is with great pleasure that the Class of 1954 dedicates this yearbook to in memoriam

In the passing of time we all encounter a dark moment. One such moment in our life at Lycoming, was last summer when the loss of Roger Smith was felt by all. His athletic ability was admired and his gentlemanly conduct was envied. He came to Lycoming from Williamsport High School where he was an outstanding student. While at Lycoming he studied in the Liberal Arts course and demonstrated his athletic ability on both the basketball court and the baseball diamond.

We sincerely hope this yearbook will help to further the impressions he made and that this will continue to be part of life at Lycoming for all time.

The students and faculty have selected W. Caldwell Mathias as their chieftain, who in their opinion, has contributed the most to Lycoming College. He has evidenced this with his pleasing personality and his ability to get along with his co-workers, both students and faculty. While supporting school activities he has maintained a high scholastic standing.

Dec. 31, 1953

Dear Friends:

I am writing this on the last day of the old year. The echoes of Merry Christmas and inspiring Christmas carols have about faded out for this year and the bells ringing in the New Year will be sounding within the next few hours.

The papers during the last few days have been appraising the outstanding events of the year 1953 and making predictions for the new year. The atomic age seems to bring with it uncertainty and fear. Perhaps the main reason is the fact that its destructive power has been publicized rather than its possibilities as a servant of mankind.

These lines will reach you when the Arrow is released sometime before commencement. At that time you will be facing a situation somewhat similar to the one we are facing today as we leave the old year and are about to enter the new. That is, you will be leaving the sheltered halls of Lycoming with its many pleasant associations and friendships and will be facing a future which will be, though hopeful, still problematical. Under these circumstances I want to leave with you words which were spoken by the late King George in one of the darkest hours of World War II. I remember hearing them spoken over the radio and though I had been familiar with them before they never seemed so impressive as when uttered by the King when he faced the uncertainties and responsibilities of that particular hour. I pass them on to you, therefore, with that historical background.

I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year:

"Give me a light that I might tread safely into the unknown!"

And he replied:

"Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God.

That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way!"

Faithfully yours,

class of 1955

We, the junior class, have completed three years at Lycoming College and are on the brink of going into the world to make names for ourselves as we have done here at Lycoming. There are those among us who have distinguished themselves in the classroom, on the athletic field, and in the various campus organizations, which have made us proud to say we are from Lycoming College. As class officers we have chosen: Richard Haas, President; George Fortner, Vice President; Carolyn Herne, Secretary; Terry Correll, Treasurer.

Left to Right—Fortner, Haas, Herne, Correll.

After the fun of initiating the freshmen we, the sophomore class, settled down to a year of studying. Some of us have prized ourselves at athletics, studies, and in extra-curricular activities. For our officers we elected Clarence Knaus, President; Paul Glunk, Vice President; Susan Olson, Secretary; Albert Zarembo, Treasurer.

• You're out!

Although the Warriors had a 3-8 record, Coach Baer's boys had quite a few good contests. The big upset of the season was the beating Lycoming gave Susquehanna on May Day at their field. The game went 11 innings before we were on top 6-1. Also memorable was the two straight wins over Wilks and Mansfield after the opening loss to Juniata. With many of the veterans back next season there are hopes of a winning season.

• Come on, bobo!

letter from the editor—

The 1954 Arrow has tried to bring to the campus of Lycoming a yearbook that is new, different, and above all, one that will maintain the high standards set in previous years. I hope we have succeeded.

I want to thank those who have spent many hours with me in seeing our dream come true: Donna Ertel and Bob Deans, who acted as my associate editors; Dick Haas, for taking care of the money problems; Joan Thompson, who worked on the advertising; Jane Keyte, for writing the copy; Barbara Yerkes, who handled the faculty section; Hank Knaus, who distributed the book; Steve Secol, who worked the sports section; the Art Staff, which consisted of Paul Rupert, Barbara Griffith, Lon Fluman, and Bob Hewitt; Wayne Frey, who worked on the fraternity section; Nancy Goertz and Irene Wool, who did the typing; and to Bunny Tantom, who took the pictures. My thanks to the Arrow's two advisers, Mr. John Chandler and Mr. John Hollenback, for their advice on editorial and business problems.

In closing I want to thank all the people who have done the little things, the things which we could have not done without.

LYCOMING COLLEGE

(Formerly WILLIAMSPORT-DICKINSON)

JOHN W. LONG, D.D., LL.D., President

Lycoming College, founded in 1812, is a co-educational liberal arts college, granting both the A.B. and B.S. degrees. The liberal arts program is basic to the professions of medicine, theology, teaching, law, dentistry, and is desirable in engineering, science, pharmacy, nursing, and veterinary medicine.

Five-year cooperative programs in engineering and forestry were started in September, 1953. The plan calls for three years of liberal arts study at Lycoming combined with two years of engineering at Bucknell University or The Pennsylvania State University or two years of forestry at Duke University. The student earns the A.B. degree from Lycoming and a professional degree from the cooperating institution.
